A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT HURLEY

Dear UMW Graduates,

It gives me great pleasure to congratulate you for the remarkable achievement that we celebrate today. You have met the challenge of rigorous and stimulating course work, experienced one-on-one interaction with exceptional faculty members, and engaged in cutting-edge research or innovative project development. Among the outstanding graduates today are debate champions, emerging scientists, exemplary educators, talented actors and musicians, All-American athletes, and future leaders of business and industry. You have distinguished yourselves as people of honor and integrity, as globally connected citizens, and as individuals committed to helping others.

The bond shared by all gathered here is unique – the University of Mary Washington experience. It is the sum total of the lessons you have learned here and the relationships you have forged with faculty and fellow students alike. This experience gives you an edge that will serve you well for the rest of your lives. As proud graduates of UMW, you will find that you are prepared for meaningful careers and for lives of significance.

I am grateful for the opportunity to serve as president of this great University. On behalf of the entire University community, I congratulate you for reaching this impressive milestone, and I wish you every success in your future endeavors.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER REBECCA R. RUBIN

Rebecca R. Rubin founded Marstel-Day in 2002 as an expression of her commitment to the conservation of natural resources, especially habitat and open space, energy, and water. Her company serves public and private clients, including the Department of Defense, the Environmental Protection Agency, and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. Marstel-Day is among several Fredericksburg-area organizations collaborating with UMW to develop a Climate, Environment, and Action Readiness (CLEAR) plan.

In 2013, the White House named Rubin a Champion of Change for Community Resilience, and Virginia Business Magazine listed her in 2011 among its Top 25 People to Watch. Marstel-Day has been named to Inc. Magazine's 500/5000 and Zweigwhite's HOTFirm list for the past five years.

A former director of the U.S. Army's Environmental Policy Institute, Rubin received a bachelor's degree from Harvard College and a master's degree in international security from Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs.

RECESSIONAL

Triumphal March from Aida Verdi

The Class of 2014 wishes to express its appreciation to the many students who have remained on campus and assisted with the logistics of commencement week.

In the event that weather conditions preclude the distribution of diplomas during the commencement ceremony, graduates may pick up their diplomas in the William M. Anderson Center beginning one-half hour after the conclusion of the ceremony. Diplomas will be distributed for two hours. Diplomas will be released only to the graduate and not to family members or friends. Any graduate who is unable to pick up his or her diploma on the day of the ceremony will receive it by mail.

HONORARY DEGREE

Irene Piscopo Rodgers '59

Irene Piscopo Rodgers '59 established a career as an expert in microscopy in a time when women in the sciences faced entrenched professional inequality.

Building on a Mary Washington bachelor's degree in chemistry, Rodgers accepted a fellowship from the University of Michigan and earned a master's degree in chemistry in 1961. She was an electron microscopist at Phillips Electronic Instruments before beginning a four-decade career as an independent consultant to FEI, a premier provider of electron and ion-beam microscopes and tools for nanoscale applications.

Rodgers has furthered Mary Washington's liberal arts and sciences mission through generous support and service to her alma mater.

She donated a transmission electron microscope, which put the UMW microscopy laboratory on par with labs of much larger research universities. Afterward, she came to campus to train faculty and students to use the microscope and to recognize student achievements.

Rodgers has endowed two student research fellowships for research in the physical and biological sciences and has established two Alvey Scholarships. An active advocate for Mary Washington, she has enthusiastically participated in 11 reunions of the Class of '59.

FACULTY EMERITI

Faculty members who have served the University of Mary Washington for at least 15 years and who have attained the rank of professor or associate professor are eligible to be considered for emeritus status. This honor, by action of the Board of Visitors, is bestowed this year upon the following distinguished members of the faculty.

David W. Cain

Distinguished Professor of Religion

Distinguished Professor of Religion David Cain began teaching at Mary Washington in August 1970. He grew up in St. Louis in love with the St. Louis Municipal Opera. With aspirations to be an actor, he has been one in the classroom for 44 years.

Dostoevsky and Kierkegaard led Cain – who characterizes himself as a literary theologian – to religious studies. The first and last course he taught at UMW was “Studies in Faith and Literature.” Cain championed the interdisciplinary opportunities of his 35-year-old department, known as CPR (Classics, Philosophy, and Religion). He conceived the interdisciplinary course, “Mysterium Humanum Studies,” and he designed the CPR logo.

The author-photographer of a book, as well as numerous articles, on Kierkegaard, Cain also edited two volumes of papers of theologian Arthur McGill. In 1992, he received the Grellet C. Simpson Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching. Cain is grateful for many gifted students and caring colleagues.

FACULTY EMERITI

James F. Gaines Professor of French

After teaching for 20 years at Southeastern Louisiana University and serving multiple terms as head of its Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, Jim Gaines joined the Mary Washington faculty in 1998 and completed two terms as chair of the Department of Modern Foreign Languages before returning, “like Brer Rabbit in the briar patch,” to full-time teaching.

During his UMW tenure, Gaines completed his two most recent books, The Molière Encyclopedia and Molière and Paradox, as well as numerous professional articles and translations from different centuries of French poetry and prose. He plans to continue his research activities in several scholarly societies and to publish in the near future his volume of poetry, Downriver Waltz, and a novel co-written with his son John (UMW Class of 2005), Life Sentence. As past president of Virginia Writers Club and Riverside Writers, he will focus his efforts on creative work.

David E. Hunt Jr. Professor of Theatre

Theatre Professor David E. Hunt Jr. came to UMW in 1982. An expert on scenery design, scenery lighting, scene painting, and theatrical makeup, he has designed scenery or lighting for more than 150 theater and dance productions.

Among his favorite designs are Quilters, Into the Woods, The Taming of the Shrew, and The Trojan Women. Hunt received an AMOCO Excellence in Scene Design Award for his production of Much Ado About Nothing. In addition, he has taken photographs of theater productions, and he is an accomplished artist whose work hangs in local galleries and is widely commissioned by private collectors.

The recipient of a 1973 bachelor’s degree in dramatic arts from the State University of New York at Buffalo, Hunt earned a master of fine arts degree in scenic design and stage technology from the University of California at Los Angeles.

Kathryn E. Loesser-Casey Professor of Biology

Biology Professor Kathryn E. Loesser-Casey received a B.A. in zoology from Drew University in 1976 and a Ph.D. in cell and developmental biology from the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey-Rutgers in 1988. She did two postdoctoral fellowships, one in the Department of Biology at University of Pennsylvania and the other in the Internal Medicine Department at the Medical College of Virginia.

In the 20 years she has been at Mary Washington, Loesser-Casey has taught 11 different courses – many of which she developed – in the Department of Biological Sciences. She has mentored more than 42 undergraduate research students, 16 of whom received departmental honors for their work. She also has been active in her field of expertise, cardiovascular disease mechanisms. Since joining the UMW faculty, she has published 10 peer-reviewed research articles and co-authored a book chapter. In addition, Loesser-Casey has received funding for major grants from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute and the National Science Foundation.

Donald N. Rallis

Associate Professor of Geography

A native of South Africa, Associate Professor of Geography Donald Rallis arrived at UMW in 1990. He is an expert on apartheid and other political developments in his homeland, as well as the geography and history of South Africa. Rallis has taught thousands of Mary Washington students and has created field programs in South Africa, Australia and New Zealand, and Cambodia. He integrated Web-based technologies into his classes in the 1990s and remains at the vanguard in utilizing blogs, discussion boards, and YouTube to take his classes out into the world and to bring the world into his classes.

Rallis is writing a book called Online Around the World: A Geographic Encyclopedia of the Internet, Social Media, and Mobile Apps, about using technology to further geographic education.

He received a B.A. and a B.S. with honors in geography from the University of the Witwatersrand in South Africa, and a master's degree in geography from University of Miami. His doctorate is from Pennsylvania State University.

Stephen P. Stageberg

Associate Professor of Economics

Associate Professor of Economics Stephen P. Stageberg, who has been with Mary Washington for 32 years and has led the faculty procession and carried the official mace at commencement for three-quarters of that time, has a diverse and colorful background.

A world-renowned cross country runner, Stageberg engaged in track duels with the legendary Steve Prefontaine and George Young. In a 5000-meter Olympic Training meet in 1968, Stageberg ran a personal best of 13:41, a time that still stands in Georgetown University record books.

Stageberg received his undergraduate, master's, and doctoral degrees from Georgetown, and he served for four years as the school's assistant director of athletics. He also served as an aide to former U.S. Sen. William Proxmire.

In addition to his long tenure as faculty marshal at UMW, Stageberg has served as intervarsity advisor, faculty representative to the NCAA, Class Council advisor, and in many other key campus roles.

ACADEMIC CUSTOMS AND DRESS

The origins of many customs of the academic world can be traced to the Middle Ages, particularly the 11th and 12th centuries, when the first European universities – Bologna, Paris, and Oxford – were founded.

In their original organization, the universities were like medieval corporations or guilds. In fact, the word “universitas” originally referred to any kind of corporation. The students at the universities were equated to guild apprentices, so the completion of the apprenticeship was celebrated by a “commencement” marking the beginning of their careers.

In the 12th century, everyone wore gowns. The social and economic status of an individual was shown by the extra features, such as fur trimming, on the gowns. Cloaks with hoods were worn over gowns for protection in bad weather. Degrees began to be awarded in the 13th century, and different styles of gowns and different colors came to represent the various degrees and disciplines.

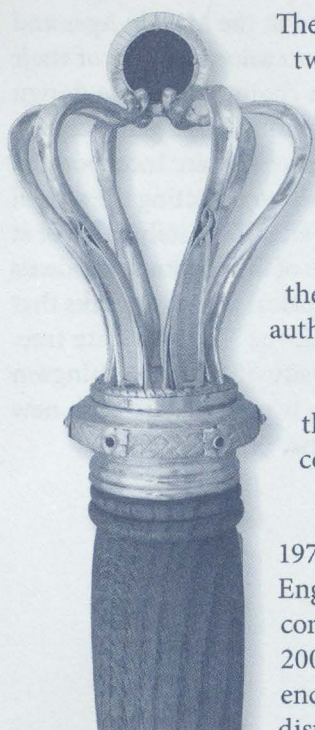

Over the centuries the styles of dress changed, and by the 17th century the wearing of gowns by men had virtually ceased. But the universities, particularly those in Britain, continued to be conservative and strict in the manner of academic customs and dress. At Oxford, for instance, a candidate for a master’s degree had to swear that he owned a gown and would always wear it at the proper times.

The first American universities were founded on English models. However, the wearing of academic dress was not universal and ceased during the Civil War. The custom was revived in the late 19th century, and in 1895 an academic custom code was adopted that, with modifications, is still used.

Most American universities have the standard black gown with the hood serving to distinguish the individual institution. Some American and European universities have adopted or preserved more distinctive gowns. There are three styles of gowns, distinguished mainly by the sleeves: the bachelor’s gown, with long pointed sleeves; the master’s, with a squared sleeve, cut so the forearm is free; and the doctoral gown, with bell-shaped sleeves with three velvet bands.

The hood is the most distinguishing feature of modern gowns, indicating the degree (the width of the edging band), the discipline (the color of the band), and the college or university (the colors of the lining). Today’s graduates have hoods edged in white (B.A.), gold (B.S., BLS), or drab (BPS). Many faculty members will have blue edging indicating the doctoral degree. The faculty will be wearing hoods representing many distinguished institutions of higher education, such as maroon for University of Chicago, scarlet for Rutgers University, crimson and gray for the University of Alabama, and green and gold for Wayne State University.

THE ACADEMIC MACE

The tradition of the academic mace began in the late 14th century, when two ancient instruments, the royal scepter and the battle mace, were combined to form a symbol of the authority of the president or rector of a university. Noblemen carried the battle mace as both a weapon and staff of command, and the sovereign used the regal scepter as a sign of rulership, justice, and authority.

Together with the chain of office, the academic mace indicates that the president of the university is the temporary embodiment of the power, authority, autonomy, and sovereignty vested in the institution represented.

At the University of Mary Washington, the grand marshal carries the academic mace on behalf of the president at academic events such as commencement exercises, inaugurations, and convocations.

The original University of Mary Washington mace, first used for the May 1970 Commencement, was designed by Asprey and Company of London, England. The sterling mace carried in today's commencement ceremony was commissioned as a special project of the University Centennial Celebration in 2008. It was designed by Suzannah Wagner Merritt of Ashland, Va. The mace encompasses numerous symbols of the University, including lapis stones to display the school color; blossoms of dogwood to honor the Virginia state tree; acorns and oak leaves to recall the historic tree at Brompton, home of the UMW president; and a herringbone motif representing Campus Walk. The six prongs are engraved with the six names of the school prior to its becoming a university in 2004; the prongs are adorned with a lapis disc engraved with the University seal. The handle is emblematic of the original Mary Washington mace.

THE UNIVERSITY SEAL

In addition to a book and lamp, signifying knowledge, the University seal denotes the year the institution was founded, 1908, and the University motto, Pro Deo Domo Patria, translated from Latin to "For God, home, and country."

PRESIDENTIAL COLLAR

Chains of office, also known as collars, originated in the Middle Ages and are worn today by presidents on ceremonial occasions as part of their regalia. The University of Mary Washington chain is a unique design crafted from gold-plated sterling silver with lapis lazuli gem accents. Symbols important to the history of the University are incorporated in every element of the chain. A large medallion depicting the school seal is flanked by white oak leaves modeled after the stately oak tree at Brompton, home of the president. The names of the previous presidents of this institution alternate with its six historical names on links that are connected with blossoms of dogwood, the Virginia state tree. The chain was unveiled during the University of Mary Washington Commencement in 2006, and, by tradition, is presented to each new president to wear during ceremonial occasions.

THE EAGLE PIPE BAND

As has become tradition, the Eagle Pipe Band will perform at today's commencement ceremony.

The band was formed in 1997 with a small number of Mary Washington students and members of the Fredericksburg community. It has grown steadily each year, adding pipers, drummers, and dancers. The band has been a top contender in pipe band competitions across the East Coast.

The Eagle Pipe Band was founded by Dr. Raymond B. Scott, University of Mary Washington professor of chemistry, and is under his direction. The tartan worn by the musicians was designed for the University to match the school colors and is registered in Scotland's official registry of tartans.

Alma Mater

All hail, dear Alma Mater,
We sing our praise to you.
High on Marye's Hilltop
You stand forever true;
Born in truth and honor
You ever more shall be,
The model of our future years
And all eternity.

Whene'er we have to leave you
We never will forget,
The lessons you have taught us,
And all the friends we've met;
And we your sons and daughters
Will hold your name on high,
So here's to Mary Washington;
Our love will never die.
